

EN 500: FINANCIAL ENGLISH

You know a lot about figures – but do you also know how to use them in an English-speaking environment? Let's test your knowledge:

- Is 'a billion' more or less than "eine Billion"?
- How much is 14'789 or 14,789 or 14.789?
- Which is correct: If it hadn't been / wasn't / wouldn't have been for his excellent mathematical skills, he would never have been suggested for this job
- Do you know your amortization from your depreciation?

If you are not sure how to answer such questions or if you just want to improve your current level of English with an emphasis on Financial English, the new Financial English course offered by the KBZ is just your ticket!

This course offers a unique combination of linguistic tuition with a great deal of input from an expert in finance, giving insights into his job and adding practical experience and tips. This special offer makes sure that everybody whose English is between B1 and C1 can benefit a lot from this course (a language certificate is not required). The course consists of 12 evenings and is supported by online trainings. Dedicate this autumn to improving your professional financial skills in English.
